MOUNTAINEERS TROUNCE MARYLAND AGGIE TEAM

June Pitches Fine Ball While His Teammates Drive Three Pitchers from Mound.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 28.—Through heavy and timely hitting, and all-right pitching on the part of June, West Virginia shut out the strong Maryland Agricultural College nine Thursday 5 to 0. June, who pitched his first game of college baseball, was invincible throughout, allowing but three hits, one of which was flied out slow to get an out at first. The Varsity hammered three Aggie pitchers for a total of eleven hits, four of which were for extra bases.

West Virginia scored in the first inning. Hersey was safe on an error and scored a moment later on Fidler's double. The second score came in the second inning. June led off with a double and scored when Matthews dropped Hersey's pop fly. In the fifth, Hersey led off with a triple and scored on Leatherwood's double to left. The last two scores came in the eighth. Lambert started off with a single to right. He scored when Flinn doubled to center, the latter being thrown out at third when he tried to stretch the drive into a triple. Ayers singled through the pitcher and was safe at second when Dearstyne failed to handle Armstrong's grounder. Ayers scored on Hersey's single to left. June was never in danger, due to sensational defensive work, both in the infield and outfield. Huffman will go in to pitch against Georgetown today.

In the Wake of the News

By Ring W. Lardner.

FOR PLAYERS OF WHIST

That concentration is of little importance in auction bridge is shown by the following deal, which was recently played by four Riverside sharks. The hands:

West: H—A, K, 10, 9, 6, 4; C—7, 6, 4; D—J.

North: H—Q, J; S—K, 8, 2; C—A, K, 10, 8; D—A, 7, 5, 4.

East: H—8, 7, 3; S—Q—10, 7, 6; C—Q, J, 3, 2; D—K, Q.

South: H—5, 2; S—J, 9, 5; C—9, 5; D—10, 9, 8, 6, 3, 2.

Rubber game. Score, nothing. Quarter of a cent a point.

The bidding:

West—Two hearts, North, East and South pass.

North had the opening lead and meant to lead the king of clubs, but led the ten by mistake. West and South were arguing the relative merits of Scott and Hendrix, so West played the two spot from dummy. South tossed his nine on and West took the trick with the four of hearts. "Haven't you any clubs?" asked North. "What was led?" asked West. "Oh, was it clubs? I beg your pardon."

At trick two, North led the ace of diamonds, thinking it was the ace of clubs. Dummy played the king. South spilled five of his six diamonds face up on the table, but recovered quickly and played the eight. West remarked that a curve ball pitcher always lasted longer than a spitball pitcher and played the jack. "But they sell so easily," said North to East, and led the queen of hearts. "What's that?" Trumps?" said the dummy. "I thought clubs were the trumps," said North. "It's too late now; board's played." West played the eight of hearts from dummy, South contributing the deuce and said: "How about Ed Walsh? He certainly lasted." "Yes," said West. "But look at him now!" and nonchalantly tossed the four of hearts on North's trick.

"The ten ones don't sell," said dummy. "That is, you can't notice it." "But I couldn't get the ten in the right size," replied North, and led the jack of hearts. West extracted the seven of hearts from dummy and South played the five saying: "But old Cy Young lasted longer than any of them." "He was an exception," said West, sloughing the six of hearts. At tricks five and six North made her king and queen of clubs good. "Now what shall I lead?" asked North.

"I wish we were playing poker," observed South. "I had three nines and three aces in this hand."

"It seems to me I do all the leading," said North and came back with the eight of clubs. To make sure this trick did not escape him, West played the queen from the dummy and the king of hearts from his own hand. "Speaker seems to have helped Cleveland," he said. "I'd better get the trumps out," he added, and led the three of hearts from dummy. "The lead's in your hand," said South.

Power!!

Few of us have the need or desire for a racing car. We are quite content to let the "other fellow" take his chances at 70 miles an hour—while we spin along comfortably and safely with the speedometer needle registering 25 or 30.

But every man wants Power in his automobile—and particularly the man who tours. It is good to sit behind a motor which responds eagerly—bouncily—to the slightest touch of the throttle. It is good to know that you need only "step on" the accelerator—and the steepest hills will flatten out like smooth boulevards. It is good to realize that you command a vast store of reserve power which will easily take you through the heaviest sand roads "on high."

It is good to know that your automobile is a staunch, sturdy, dependable help-mate—not a treacherous weakling that will lay down when the real work begins.

In a word, it is good to own just such a car as the Paige seven passenger "Six-46".
